Download 4Videosoft Screen Capture Full Version. 209 S.E.2d 559 (1974) 283 N.C. 437 STATE of North Carolina v. Charles D. CROWTHER, III, Larry Eugene Wimberly, and Judy Lee Sanders. No. 110. Supreme Court of North Carolina. October 2, 1974. *560 Atty. Gen. James O. Cobb, Jr., for the State. Howard A. Culbertson and Arthur J. Riggs, for defendants-appellants. LAKE, Justice. Defendants do not question the sufficiency of the evidence to support their conviction of burglary. Indeed, there is more than ample evidence to support it. Their contention is that there is no evidence in the record of their possession of a firearm prior to, or at the time of, the burglary, and that, therefore, the court erred in submitting to the jury the issue of their guilt as to this charge. We do not agree. Possession of a firearm at the time of or shortly after a burglary is a circumstance that the jury may consider in determining whether the defendants participated in the burglary. However, this is not the exclusive circumstance that the jury may consider in determining whether they participated. There is no requirement that the State's evidence exclude every other reasonable hypothesis except that of the guilt of the defendants. Indeed, there is no requirement that the State's evidence, in order to be sufficient to support a verdict, exclude any other reasonable hypothesis. Rather, the standard is whether it is "reasonably consistent with the defendant's innocence." State v. Wilkerson, 295 N.C. 559, 247 S.E.2d 905 (1978). This rule is applicable even though the State's evidence is entirely circumstantial. State v. Collins, 275 N.C. 420, 168 S.E.2d 33 (1969), disapproved on other grounds, State v. Williams, 285 N.C. 560, 206 S.E.2d 210 (1974); State v. Wilson, 280 N.C. 674, 187 S.E.2d 223 (1972). In State v. Wilkerson, supra, the defendant's possession of a pistol at the time of or shortly after the burglary was one of the circumstances submitted to the jury in addition to other evidence from which the jury could draw inferences that he was guilty.
