A: what do you mean here? `int data = "data".substring(revert.start, revert.limit); str = String.valueOf(data); return str; ?` Studies on anorexia and retching in victims of acute cyanide poisoning. A study was carried out on a series of non-comatose victims of cyanide poisoning, to find out the relationship between the occurrence of symptoms of anorexia and retching and cyanide concentrations in their blood, urine, gastric juice and vomitus. Cyanide concentrations in the blood and other biological fluids were measured by ion-selective electrode. Only a very poor correlation was found between the occurrence of symptoms of anorexia and retching and cyanide concentrations in the blood and biological fluids. Thus, the mechanism of these symptoms is not related to blood cyanide concentrations. A novel high-resolution melting (HRM) assay for the rapid screening of HTR2A G1019C polymorphism in schizophrenia: a case-control study. Schizophrenia (SCZ) is a complex, chronic, and severe neuropsychiatric disorder. A large body of genetic evidence suggests that the human serotonin receptor 2A (HTR2A) G1019C polymorphism may play an important role in SCZ. However, no reports have studied the association between HTR2A G1019C polymorphism and SCZ in Chinese population. In the present study, we designed a novel high-resolution melting (HRM) assay and used it to detect the G1019C polymorphism of the HTR2A gene in a case-control study. We genotyped the G1019C polymorphism in 134 unrelated SCZ patients and 159 healthy controls and found that the G/G genotype frequency was significantly different between patients and controls ($P = 0.021$). We suggest that the HTR2A G1019C polymorphism might be associated with SCZ in Chinese population. It was also the biggest margin of victory for a Republican presidential candidate over a sitting president in history. Businessman Donald Trump defeated Hillary Clinton by 24 points in the 2016 election. At a rally in Wilmington, North Carolina, early Monday, Trump mocked Clinton's loss, pointing to the fact that he enjoyed an enormous polling lead over her at this point in the race: "In late September, my polls showed that I was leading Hillary by seventeen points," 3da54e8ca3
