Second primary tumors of the female genital tract are infrequent and pose clinical management challenges. The aim of this study was to determine the frequency, site-specific incidence, and patient characteristics associated with this cancer. The Nationwide Inpatient Sample was used to identify patients with a uterine cancer diagnosis from 2002 to 2007. Age-standardized rates, cohort and case-only analyses, and multivariable logistic regression modeling were performed to compare patient and hospital characteristics of women with primary and recurrent tumors. Overall, 5,806 patients were identified with a uterine tumor. The age-standardized rate of uterine cancers was 0.66 per 100,000 women in 2002 and 0.62 in 2007. The incidence rate of uterine cancer rose from 2001 to 2006 (P=0.05) but subsequently fell to 0.60 per 100,000 in 2007. Compared with patients who had a single primary uterine cancer, patients with recurrent uterine cancer were more likely to have had other malignancies in the past (PLudovico Berio Ludovico Berio (born 1730, died unknown) was an Italian painter, predominantly of landscapes. Biography Berio was born in Siena, Italy. He was a pupil of Raphael Mengs and a contemporary of Girolamo Aleandro, Titian, and Domenico Tintoretto.
