In Football Manager 2020, the player will move freely inside the tactic screen, watch their team develop, and decide player development and recruitment with intuitive controls. This will be possible thanks to new AI and new handling of tactics, not only influencing how the player can influence tactics, but also how the AI behaves. It represents an evolution in Football Manager towards a modern football simulation. The latest free update to F1 2020 improves on the AI's naturalness by giving the AI a better understanding of the mental state of the opponents when selecting which players to swap, and by giving the AI a greater sense of its own position within a more varied matchday squad. The new AI also has a greater understanding of how a player is likely to perform at a given level, while reading the context of training sets, injuries, mental fatigue and objective differences. In addition to key in-game improvements, there are also many new features to be released for this season's Race Pack 1. This includes some of the major new gameplay features in Race Pack 1, such as Auto Gear Selection, Pit Strategy and Pit Time and Optimisation, and more: Auto Gear Selection Rivals now have a 'Tactical Style' from which to choose nonsense action-oriented game style, is automatically selected based on the rival's style. 'Style Two', a more defensive style, is selected for opponents who are strongly counter-attacking. You can choose the rival's 'Style Three' at any time. As F1 2021 moves to a new era of in-game data, F1 Race Engine will be the first Formula One game to incorporate VSC support, with VSC being mapped to individual tracks using the official FIA data from the very first race in which a VSC track was used. The new Pit Strategy feature allows players to see an overview of their team's set-up and the state of their car(s) in the pit lane, giving players more control over their cars' battle positions in the pit lane. Pit Time and Optimisation includes three new systems that affect how the game works. For example, players will see a warning that their car will enter the pit lane in under three seconds, and they will be given a brief period of free time to position themselves correctly in order to not receive

The key features of Auto Gear Selection are that: 'Style One', a no-

What's new:

- REAL FOOTBALL MOVEMENT - Huge thanks to the 22 players (see 20 KIDS below) who are helping us power FIFA 22 gameplay. With the help of their movements, we've now got superb, real-life reactions - movements and on-ball actions of every player during a full match (i.e., lengthy animation sequences) that's something no other game can compete with.
- BUILDER TRAINING - New Training Centre revamp saves energy and ensures you only receive High/Mid/Low ratings, depending on the time you spend with the training.
- PASSING/SHOOTING ANIMATIONS - Subtle improvements to the way that animations work on both the ball and receiver - ball physics are now more realistic, you can see the contact point of the ball with the receiver, and the pass direction can now be retrieved.
- 'IN THE MOMENT' GESTURES - New Real Player Motion animation technology allows us to show certain gestures and actions on ball impact, immediately before the player performs them, to recreate what you'd actually do in real life. This gives the ball a unique feel and also helps make it feel more alive - all player touches on the ball now give the player more tactile feedback and a fuller overall experience.
- BALL TORPEDOES - Improved shooting techniques - many of them will have been worked on by the player himself on the training ground and in-game - make sure to see the trajectory of your shots and decide whether to maximize the shot angle and trajectory first, or to use the remaining time and run into space for a more powerful shot.

- FOCUS POINT FEATURES - New feature allows you to make all your shots always on target, focusing on where the ball is before the shot, and using actual player training data to get your brain into the right position for your next move or action. The shots from some of the top players have been reworked to further add to realism - have a look at the shots of Brazil's Neymar at the World Cup and you'll have a better idea of what we've done.
