Galacide is a beautiful action-adventure game set in the deep, dark ocean. You play as Sam, a depressed college student stuck in a dead-end, part-time job. You have a 2 minute window of time to escape your cubicle and get to work. It's up to you to navigate the office, find a computer, hack it, and get the hell out of there! Eventually, you'll also figure out that you can breathe underwater. And you can swim. And you can swim. To solve puzzles and gain hidden powers, you'll need to combine these simple elements into a whacky, fast-paced, and challenging game. To put it simply, Galacide is the greatest game from the studios minds at Neat Corporation. As you dive deep down into Galacide's dark and dangerous ocean, you'll find yourself experiencing stunning visuals, a seamless blend of touch and motion controls, and tons of depth in its non-linear narrative. And best of all, it's also the first submarine game ever! Now, we love a good art book. But what if you could see the process, the concept and the final result all rolled into one? The Galacide art book is that art book. And it's complete with the story of how Sam and Galacide came together! The Galacide art book includes:

- 35 pages of original concept, design and final art from Galacide
- 26 Galacide-exclusive wallpapers
- 1 never-before-seen concept art for fans to see a little more inside the engine and universe of Galacide.

Dreamland is a new take on the classic game, "Vampire: The Masquerade – Bloodlines". Written by Brian Mitsoda and designed by Juan Chen, it's filled with original characters and distinct narratives. The game takes place in the setting of the city-state of Arcadia, which is located in the Southern hemisphere. In this alternate timeline, it is widely believed that vampires have been eradicated by humans. In reality, vampires are still very much alive. Some vampires, however, are more integrated than others. These "New Breed" vampires are driven by a selfish ambition, and pose a grave threat to the "Anarchy" faction within the city state. Players will now play as one of two factions. They may choose to fight for the Old Breed faction or the New Breed faction. The fate of the entire city hangs in the balance. Some of the world's top Olympic medal winners recently gathered in Brazil for the welcoming ceremony for the Olympic athletes. Vermel Cunha won gold medals in the men's team artistic gymnastics and in the men's rhythmic gymnastics in the recent Rio 2016 Olympic Games. Cunha also won a bronze medal in the men's all-around. When it was pointed out that he hadn't had any luck in the competition himself, he joked, "There's no chemistry with my partner." Cunha thanked the Brazilian supporters who welcomed him back home and added he was not surprised by the reception given to him. "You know, it's Brazil; they love us a lot. They see me. They treat me good. It's always the same," he said. He also defended his decision to go for more medals than everyone else. "Everyone can only win one time, and I'm the only one who can win three, so why not?" he said. Recently, Cunha became the first Olympic gymnast ever to defend his all-around title at the Rio Games, beating 2012 silver medalist Peter Vidmar. "If you get the chance to do it, you have to attack it. If you know you can win, then go for it. That's why I've never worried about defending a title," Cunha added. His 2012 Olympic teammate, Americans Christiaan Lefevre, won bronze medals in the men's team all-around and rhythmic and silver medals in c9d1549cdd

1) Have the cannon working, and use the mass of the cannon shell to simulate fire, so you can see the projectile as it flies out of the cannon. This allows the projectiles to be fired continuously, in contrast to the moving counterweight system in T2. 2) Add a limited version of the fuel cells to allow the working ships to sit idle for longer periods of time, or to allow them to drive through multiple planets, rather than having to refuel the drive each time. 3) Clean up the code for multiple ships, with fewer classes. Some of the classes in each faction should be merged. 4) Add more multiplayer classes, including a larger, more varied ship roster. 5) Add more content for the sandbox mode, including more maps, weapons, vehicles, missions and stations. The 3D World Map needs a boost as well. * It's up to the group to decide which of these suggestions are the most important, and then use them as the basis for a kickstarter fund to build out a game based on those suggestions. Our game idea:As the FPS genre evolved into the more "RPG-like" games, there were less and less of these games around. FPS's started becoming more "point and click" and it was always a bit of a hurdle for me to have a FPS game be too serious. That's where Into the Fire comes in, it's a fan-made FPS/RPG that I have been developing for the past few years and I'd love to get some feedback. In the RPG-like FPS genre you get a lot of people complain about how there's no RPG-like element to it. You can't collect loot, save game files, and there's no real story. Into the Fire intends to add these features to it. For the sake of this project I have taken more time and effort into giving each map a unique feel and personality and try to make each level feel like a different environment. There's been some friendly discussion about a Linux version already, and hopefully the people who want to see it get it, will help with that as well. Overview: Into the Fire is a fan-made First Person Shooter for Windows (and possibly Linux and Mac) which sets itself apart from most of the other First Person Shooters by using real guns, instead of the more common artificial weapons. With a twist, the player starts out in a town that seems to have been invaded by aliens and there

What's new in Liberty Prime:

Princess Smash Up - Pretty Pretty Princess Disney Girls threw a pretty animated convention/festival - 'Nuff Said! This event started with three super- cute Ballerina-inspired versions of the Princesses from Disney Pixar's movie, 'Brave' - Merida, Tiana, and Merida. I love the idea of just "fitting in"- dressing up even if everything seems to fit just right, the other two Fit-Fairies and I kept exclaiming "How funny-if you walked-around the Convention hall the other persons might think you were from 'Brave'-but you could walk-around and "not-fit-in" because you are better than all of them because you are a Princess!!! I am so even more thrilled-now- that I will be playing another Disney Princess for a totally new game at G-Rad Studios/Cabana Games - 'Pretty Pretty Princess.' I will be doing a lot more online on my twitter-handle @BrageLioness and a brand new blog soon. Hoping to do some Smash-Up-Albums soon, so come check it out - Link in-profile on my MYSACE and be sure to follow-me on Twitter @BrageLioness. :) I am teamed up with the super-talented Yuri, to be available on both the Steam- and Direct2Drive-Marketplaces, so you can get it from there-for whatever reason. D2D is also launching Frozen Princesses right now (it seems that this was completely meant for me and Yuri to team-up on, since we will be doing things so "un-Disney-Princess-ly" with them). So today is also the official Day One's Launch-for the game. Thank you to everyone that's taken the time to read this, and if you are reading this anywhere else- I will be back more often with my Audio-work right away. Hang in there, I am not abandoning the 'BrageLioness2' Project, because finding creative ways to use my more-than-decent singing skills is in-fact the way to "Keep my Cool-in" the world :P Marina Vlady - Merida Merida - The Princess with a Thousand Colours (2006) Sleeping Beauty - Emilia - Disney Movie - 2003 Leila Delamare - Tiana Tiana -
