Partnership Project (3GPP) Long Term Evolution (LTE) contains a feature known as cell-based-virtualization (CBV) which provides a certain amount of resource reservation for user-plane traffic in the cell. This resource reservation is not dedicated to a specific user and is therefore transparent to the user. However, this transparent reservation of resources is nevertheless subject to resource starvation. In particular, the central network (CSG) controller of the cell (CSG cell) must allocate resources to
